MANCHESTER, NH — The Robert & Lucille Davison Award for Philanthropy was proudly awarded to The Bank of America Charitable Foundation last night at the Annual Meeting of the Elliot Health System.

“This award was established in 2001 and named for Robert and Lucille Davison in recognition of their lifetime commitment and philanthropic support of Elliot Health System,” said Selma Naccach-Hoff, EHS Vice-Chair of the Elliot Board of Directors.

“The Bank of America Charitable Foundation’s commitment to the Elliot Health System has been outstanding. Recently, they studied the positive impact that the Elliot at River’s Edge will have on low income families and children,” said Naccach-Hoff. “Their grant of $250,000 to bring a state-of-the-art conference center to River’s Edge allowing for new and innovative educational programs geared toward children is extraordinary.”

John Weeks, Bank of America State President, explained, “Bank of America has a particular interest in supporting the needs of low-income families and children. The Elliot at River’s Edge is a project that we believe will have a profound impact on this community and our support is a tool to help bring education, resources and excellent healthcare to a population in Manchester that is currently underserved.”
